'Frederick Ebert, head of the old government, is variously reported to have sought refuge at Dresden and Stuttgart, calling upon Socialists and workers to stand by his regime and to fight the revolution with a general strike.

Herr Heiscke, minister of labor, and Herr von Berger, minister of public safety, both members of Ebert's cabinet, are reported in a Rotterdam dispatch to have been arrested.

A wireless dispatch, declared official but of unknown authority, sent out from here says:

"The new men in power definitely declare they do not intend to restore the monarchy."

American Troops Will Not Take Part in Allied Advance

Bulletin, Washington, March 15.—While technically still under the direction of Marshal Foch, American troops on the Rhine would not participate in any allied advance into Germany without specific directions from President Wilson, it was said today at the War Department.

Officials said the situation so far as the American forces were concerned was a complex one. The United States is the only nation having troops on the Rhine which has not become a party to the treaty of Versailles and consequently the American detachment still is governed by the terms of the Armistice.

Under those terms, they were still subject technically to the orders of Marshal Foch as the supreme allied commander.

The American forces on the Rhine consist of about 1300 troops under Major General Henry T. Allen.

They are prepared, the dispatch states, to form a coalition government.

Barbed wire has been thrown across Unter den Linden and Wilhelmstrasse, and cannon and machine guns are posted at cross-streets and vantage points, while those opposed to the counter revolution are marshaling their forces.

The cabinet is full of anxiety. A fierce armed clash is expected.

(By Associated Press)
Report Agreement Reached

Berlin, March 15.—An unconfirmed report was current shortly before midnight that the new government had reached an agreement with the Ebert government in order to avert the threatened strike. It is reported that the South German generals and the Saxon troops have given their adherence to the Ebert government.

Allied Recognition Refused

London, March 15.—One of the first acts of the new government in Berlin was to request recognition from the allied commission in Germany, according to official British advices today.

The request was ignored, the commissioners taking the attitude that they would not extend recognition even to the extent of answering the communication.

Behind the movement to overthrow the Ebert ogvernment of Germany and substitute a conservative administration, stand well-known military leaders, including Col. Bauer, says a Berlin dispatch to the Daily mail, which claims that the leaders have been working secretly for months in preparation for their Coup.

France Re-enforces Army

Paris, March 5. France contemplates sending three more army corps to Wiesbaden Muestadt and Bonn, thus doubling her forces along the Rhine, according to the Petit Parisian. Marshal Foch will call a meeting of the Supreme War Council as soon as he returns from Mayence where he will confer with allied commanders.

Reports reaching here state that every step has been taken to maintain order in occupied districts of Germany and that the Interallied Commission for the Rheinish Provinces has received the German High Commissioner after having conferred with allied military leaders.

Information received here indicates the utmost calm is prevailing in Germany although the senatorship in Berlin is responsible for a lack of detailed news from that city. Telegraphic communication with Berlin is interrupted. The last telegram from French officials there having been received here at one o'clock Sunday morning. Advices from other sources however indicate the reactionary movement begun on Saturday morning is confined to Berlin and that mobs are busy looting stores in some quarters of the city.

Military forces at Leipsic appear to favor the new regime, while a contrary view of the situation is taken by the people generally. It is reported at Munich, the Bavarian government has handed over control to a general who is in favor of the Ebert government. The German National Assembly has been summoned to meet at Stuckark on Tuesday.

Revolt With Political Support

Paris, March 15.—The latest advices to the French foreign office from Berlin, it was said today indicated that the revolution in Prussia has without political support.

From information thus far received, it was said the impression in official circles was that that military party might hold possession of Berlin and other important centers for some time, but that without the support of other political elements the movement was doomed to failure.

Under Military Control

London, March 15.—An official dispatch from an American source in Hamberg, received today says: "A general strike is in full force here. The city is under military control. No disorders have yet occurred."

TEXAS FIRE DOES $2,000,000 DAMAGE

Thousand Persons Homeless, Seven Block... Are in Ruins — Started Yesterday Afternoon and Burned Until Th... Morning

(By Associated Press)

Grand View, Texas, March 15.—Approximately a thousand persons were homeless here today and seven business blocks were in ruins with an estimated loss of $2,000,000 as the result of a fire which started yesterday afternoon and burned until early this morning.

THIS IS LAST DAY TO PAY INCOME TAX

This is the last day for the income tax returns. The temporary office established by the Internal Revenue department at the post office has been rushed for the past few days, especially in the evening. Saturday was a havy day, and many people stood in line waiting their turn in getting assistance in filling out the necessary blanks. Quite a number were unable to receive attention and will have to close up their business today. The deputy collector in charge of the Elyria office reports that he has received heavier and more returns than last year.

ELECTRIC CAR ALL BUT GOES THRU BRIDGE

Three Passengers Have Harrowing Experience—Car Fender Goes Through Bridge Railing

The bad condition of the ... line track on Lodi street caused ... sulted in a frightful accident at the Lodi street bridge at six o'clock this morning.

A car in charge of Motorman Vansickle and Conductor Rahmer was coming into the city from Lorain, and as it reached the bridge it jumped the track and started for the north railing of the east end of the bridge. The car was traveling slowly and prompt action of the motorman caused it to stop just as the fender struck the railing. No damage was done to the bridge but traffic was blocked on both tracks for some time.

There were but three passengers on board, but they as well as the train crew were given a severe bumping, and a scare that will remain with them for some time.

The hard winter has heaved the track in many places and it is in very bad condition. A serious accident is likely to take place at any time unless the company gets busy.

ASK REDUCED COAL RATES IN WARM MONTHS

Winter Shortage Is Planned Thru Lower Freight in Summer Months

Washington, March 15.—Lower freight rates on coal in the spring and summer, higher rates in the fall and winter.

This is a policy soon to be put into effect by the interstate commission in an effort to end the constant coal shortage menace and to equalize the production, the demand and the distribution of fuel.

Representatives of Cleveland iron and coal producing companies conceived the idea as a solution of the coal problem; they proposed it to high government officials and members of Congress and have practically assured its adoption.

Incentive To Consumers

Senator Pomerene, who was consulted in the matter, made the announcement today and later it was confirmed by Edgar E. Clark chairman of the interstate commerce commission, which has full power to act under the new Esch-Cummins railroad law.

It is probable the commission's order will reduce the standard rates on coal by at least 15 per cent between April 1 and October 1 and increase them by 15 per cent from October 1 and April 1.

By this means, it is believed, the lower prices dealers could offer in the spring and summer would provide a strong incentive to the general public as well as manufacturers and other commercial consumers to order their winter coal supplies in the preceding spring and summer. Thus, the miners, who have bitterly complained they are unable to work full time, would be employed steadily the year around. Production would be continuous and the danger of a fuel famine in the fall and winter months would be eliminated.

Call Plan Feasible

The plan is declared to be perfectly feasible and the Clevelanders backing it predict it will not only solve the fuel supply problem but will also solve many of the existing difficulties as to miners' wages and the car supply.

Senator Pomerene emphatically indorses the plan.

ELYRIA SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS LEADS LORAIN

Attendance At M. E. Church Yesterday Doubles Attendance—Over 100 Present

The contest between the Men's classes of the M. E. churches in this city and Lorain to secure the largest number of attendants during this month is rapidly becoming a warm one, and enthusiasm is at a high point.

For two Sundays the Lorain class has had a larger attendance than the Elyria class, but yesterday the reverse took place. A week ago the Elyria class had 57 members in attendance. They got busy yesterday, and when noses were counted there were 105, which added to the other two Sundays more than equals the Lorain attendance of the Lorain class for the same period.

Credit is due for the excellent showing to W. H. Vanoster, in charge of the campaign, Lieut. Mason Smith, and teacher, C. W. Koppes, as well as individual members of the class who worked hard to swell the attendance. The campaign has gotten under full swing and Elyria expects to beat out their Lorain brethren.

Yesterday's total Sunday school attendance was 538.

TWO SUITS FOR DIVORCE FILED

Two divorce cases were filed in the Court of Common Pleas today.

Cynthia Cooper, of Oberlin asks for a divorce from John Cooper on the ground of gross neglect of duty and wilful absence.

Chas Dunn also asks a divorce from Catherine Dunn on the ground of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. He states that she neglected to prepare his meals, and remained away from home on several occasions. When he remonstrated she flew into a rage, ordered him out, and hit him on the head.

JURY EXCUSED UNTIL AFTER SEVENTEENTH

Although Judge Thompson is not an Irishman he has a wholesome respect for St. Patrick, as was evidenced in court this morning.

He excused the extra jurymen until next Thursday, merely remarking, "Well, let me see; Wednesday is St. Patrick's day and I suppose you will all want to celebrate. You are excused until next Thursday."

CITY WATER IS MUCH IMPROVED

The city water has somewhat improved in the last day or two due to the ice that covered the lake having cleared up considerably being blown to the north.

However, it is best to still boil the water, and within a few days it is hoped that conditions will again be normal.

Homesteader Digging Cellar Finds Coal Mine

Newcastle, Wyo., March 15.—A vein of high-grade coal is nothing in the lives of John and Henry Wegher brothers who are developing a homestead in the Plum Creek district. While digging a cellar for their homestead shack the two brothers uncovered a coal mine on their property.

The Wegher brothers declare they have no use for a coal mine at present, as they desire to develop the agricultural and stock-raising possibilities of their ranch, and because gases from the newly located coal mine prevent them from using the excavation as a cellar, they will have to "dig" again.

It is believed the new coal vein is an extension of that on which the Cambria coal camp, one of the largest in Wyoming, is located.

MACHINERY TO CLEAN STREETS IS PURCHASED

The Board of Control have purchased the machinery authorized by the city council for use on the city streets.

A Havis road grader manufactured by the Good Roads Machine Co. was purchased at a cost of $490. It has a sprinkler attached and is horse drawn.

They also purchased from the Galon Iron Works a Little Ideal reversible road machine for $325.

O. T. MAYNARD PROPERTY IS PURCHASED BY M. E. CHURCH

At the morning session of the M. E. church yesterday morning it was announced that the trustees had purchased the Dr. O. T. Maynard property adjoining the church on the east.

This action was authorized by the official board and quarterly conference, and the property was purchased from The Elyria Savings & Banking Co., as trustees of the estate of Dr. Maynard. The purchase price was given as $20,000.

This important deal is expected to prove o fadvantage to the church as they are now protected from any objectionable building going up and shutting off the light, or from any objectionable business being located ther.. The property will at once be rented, and it may be that at some future date, the church can use it to advantage.

Legislation regarding the construction of additions to the sewer system of the city will also come up for final disposition.

Whether the Gas Co. will make any move towards pressing their claim for an increase in rates is a question. However it will be a busy evening for the councilmen.

A 'FLU' VICTIM'S DOCTOR TOLD HIM 'USE NERV-WORTH'

AND THE PATIENT FOUND IN THIS TONIC THE ONE SUCCESSFUL UPBUILDER AFTER THE "FLU"

Another very timely statement in favor of this famous family medicine, given a few days ago to Springfield's Nerv-Worth druggist

Troupe Drug Co—I was very nervous and suffered with heart trouble resulting from a bad case of the "flu." My nervous strength was very low and I was not eating well. Had to force down what I did eat and my stomach and digestion were in very bad condition Could not get restful sleep and was terribly run down and in a weakened condition My doctor told me to keep up the use of Nerv-Worth until I got in good condition, which I have done. I was unable to get anything that did me any good, until I found Nerv Worth Now I am up to my normal health, strength and vigor. I regard Nerv Worth as the greatest medicine I ever took and recommend it to others in my condition

E A HAMMA,

LYLE WOODRUFF GIVES ADDRESS ON NEAR EAST

Bulgarian Representative at Peace Conference Gave Interesting Talk at Public Forum Sunday

Alleging that Bulgarians are called "The Americans of the Balkins," Lyle Woodruff, who attended the Peace conference at the request of the missionaries from Bulgaria, held the close attendance of the audience at the Open Forum in Odd Fellows' hall unday afternoon.

He also said that if the United States had had the choosing of the Allies in the late war she would not have chosen Imperialistic Russia nor probably Japan. In the Balkans she would have chosen Bulgaria. This statement he based on the fact that the Bulgarians have predominantly those qualities that we think of as strictly American. For instance he said they were tolerant to the extent of leaving Turks and Greeks within her territory unmolester in the wars of 1912 and 1913 when they were fighting against Turkey and Greece respectively. He continued:

Favor Prohibition.

They are a comparatively sober people and will be the first prohibition state in the Balkans. They have full religious liberty, whereas in Greece it is unconstitutional to own or sell the Bible in the language of the people In no other Balkan state were American schools and churches allowed before 1913.

"There is no aristocracy either landed or titled. It is called the Peasant state. Travellers have called the Bulgarians the Americans of the Balkans."

To the question why Bulgaria went into the war on the side of Germany the speaker answered, "Russia." Until a few years ago the "menace" of the world was Russia, not Bolshevik Russia but dark imperialistic Russia. a pact with Turkey to defend her if "This is why England in 1878 made a pact with Turkey to defend her if attacked by Russia. This is why when Russia drove the Turk clean out of Europe, England, Austria and Germany at the treaty of Berlin reinstated Turkey in Eruope. This is why England was willing even to sacrifice the whole Bulgarian nation condemning it to Turkish tyranny rather than to allow it to become a part or even a tool of Russia which would thus be brought nearer to Constantinople and so threaten Britain's sea route to India.

"The Bulgarian peasants blind in their gratitude to Russia were taught by British diplomatic agents to suspect and oppose Russian advance. Those educated in American Mission schools and especially at Roberts collegt at Constantinople were especially responsive to this Angelo-Saxon dread of Russian religion and type of civilization.

People Presented

"When at the beginning of the great war England reversed her old policy and conceded Constantinople to Russia gloom fell upon the Bulgarian people. They felt their brief day if independence was drawing to a close. It were better, they believed, to become, if necessary, an autonomous province of Austria than to become Russian peasants, for the very difference in language, religion and customs between the Bulgarians and the Austrians would be their safe guard. On the other hand, if Russia annexed them she would send Russian teachers into their schools, Russian priests into their churches and Russian officers into their army and their gains in national character would be lost.

"Then in 1913 when the Turks under Enver Bey trotted back into Adrianople over night and Sir Edward Grey said they would have to get out as they came, the refusal of Russia to co-operate with England in enforcing Grey's word made Bulgaria distrustful of the ability of England to make good any promise.

"In 1914 France and England both refused Bulgaria a loan which Germany thereupon granted.

"A proposition from, Bulgaria in the spring of 1915 that she go on the side of England on condition that the Bulgarians occupy at once the part of Macedonia promised to her was not even acknowledged by the British foreign office. Nevertheless the leaders of most of Bulgaria's many political parties urged the king not to go with Germany. These same men in June 1918 succeeded in overthrowing the pro-German government and deposed the king.

Gets Full Justice

"After America entered the war and especially after the pronouncement of the 14 points and the proclamations dropped from airplanes that Bulgaria would get full justice in the settlement of Balkan boundaries the Bulgarian soldiers lost interest in the war. 'Why fight,' they said to one another 'against our friends.' The complete violation of the 14 points in the Balkan peace is now one of the saddest injustices of the peace. The only thing that saves America's honor is the fact that our delegation at Paris in the person of Secretary Polk voted to the last against the spoliation of Bulgaria. Nevertheless she was cut off from the Aegean sea and still another 125,-000 Bulgarians were added to Servia besides leaving under Servia and Greece all of Macedonia which they took from Bulgaria at the treaty of Bucharest in 1913."

BILLY WHISKERS

By Frances Trego Montgomery

By Frances Trego Montgomery

When the patrol wagon arrived at the police station Billy was made to jump out and was led through the station into the back yard, and here he was turned loose He had been there about half an hour, when he heard a terrible stamping of horses' feet and many bells ringing in the building on the other side of the fence.

Wondering what the racket could be about, he climbed on top of a pile of boxes that were next to the fence and looked into the yard beyond He found that the building was used as a fire engine station, and that the racket he had heard was caused by the horses taking their places at the engine ready to start to a fire

Through two large doors that opened into the yard Billy could see what was going on inside And when he saw the men jump to their places on the ensine and the driver whip up the horses, he became so excited he could stand it no longer and he determined to go with them to the fire. With a spring he was over the fence, and following after the engine at a stiff run

It was a good thing Billy had a strong pair of lungs or he would never have been able to keep up with the fast speed of the fire engine horses, but he did and arrived at the fire in good shape

The fire was found to be in a three-story frame house, and when they got there the flames were already coming out of the upper windows; but the strangest thing about the fire was that the inhabitants of the house, if there were any, seemed to be in utter oblivion that their house was on fire for not a person was in sight about the place and all the doors and windows were securely locked

Two men ran up the steps with axes, while two followed dragging the hose after them The men with the axes had given one knock to the door when Billy saw what they were up to, and as he had often used his head as a battering ram, he ran up the steps, and before the men knew he was there, he gave the door a mighty butt with his head which made it crash in and the men and goat fell through the opening.

This tickled the crowd who had gathered to see the fire and they called out "Bravo for the goat"

Billy followed the firemen upstairs, but when he got there the smoke was so thick he could see nothing and it made his eyes smart, besides choking him dreadfully, so he decided to go out again. He turned to find the head of the stairs he had come up, but instead of discovering them he ran into the wall and the more he tried to find his way out the more confused he became. He fell over something and when he regained his feet, after having nearly gone head over heels into a box, as he thought, but which was a baby's cradle, he felt something heavy hanging to his horns At the same time he heard a baby cry.

"Poor little things," thought Billy, "everyone has gone out of the house and left the baby asleep and now it is going to be burned to death Wish I knew where it was; it sounds near but I can't see for this smoke" Just then a little bare foot slipped down over Billy's eyes and then he knew the heavy thing hanging to his horns was the baby

As soon as he found this out, he tried harder than ever to find the stairs and presently he found them and with the baby's clothes still twisted around his horns he ran down and out into the street, just in time to meet the baby's nurse coming from the drug store around the corner She was wild with joy when she saw the baby and rushed up to Billy to unfasten the baby's clothes from his horns The child was unhurt and a crowd soon gathered around Billy to pet and praise him for saving the baby's life

(Tomorrow Billy has a laugh at the policemen's expense)

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

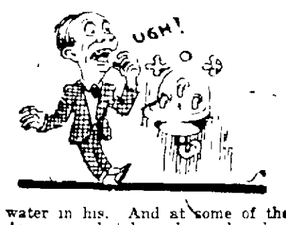

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 10c and 30c.

DINNER STORIES

A tale of woe, with Sir Arthur Shirley Benn, head of the British trade mission, was told at a dinner recently Sir Arthur, when he arrived in the United States, brought his own supply with him—in a golf bag. Recently the supply was exhausted—all save a half bottle of real stuff. Calling in some of his fellow-delegates, Sir Arthur proposed a final drink. Glasses were filled, the bottle was emptied and a toast was proposed. Sir Arthur likes water in his. And at some of the American hotels where he had stopped they have cute little taps stuck into the wall or into the washbowl from which ice water flows when the button is pressed This was the last drink and Sir Arthur wanted to be careful. So he pressed the button carefully He didn't, he had made a mistake Instead of the ice water tap he had used a tap that yielded liquid soap

TWO IN ONE

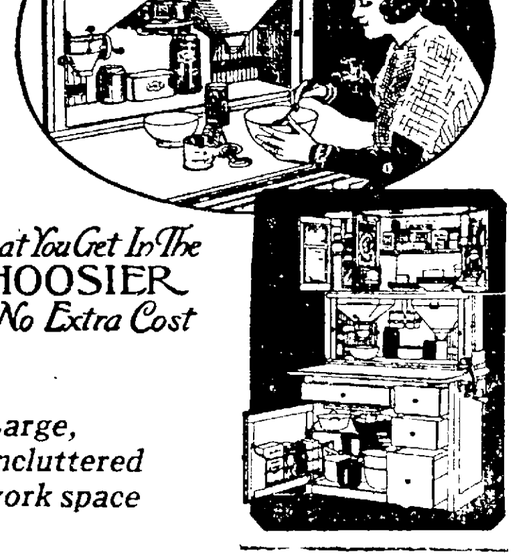

For the middle-aged or elderly person who requires one pair of glasses for reading and another pair for out-of-door use, we recommend our Invisible Bifocal or double vision glasses.

They are really two pairs of glasses in one—two lenses fused together without any visible joining. There is no prominent seam or joint to tell the public that the wearer is "getting along in years."

With our Invisible Bifocals even your closest friends cannot detect that you are wearing double vision glasses. Call and see them.

PRACTICAL JOKERS AGAIN ON THE WAR PATH

If there is anything in a community more annoying than one of these practical jokers, who have no regard for truth, courtesy or good breeding, and who are continually springing something in the way of news, with the idea of embarrassing and humiliating innocent associates, it has yet to be discovered.

One of these characters sent in a "news" item last week, announcing the marriage of Miss Mable Strothers and Myron Rawson, which he or she thought would be funny, when there was nothing to it and the "comedy" was nothing but distress on the part of the two victims, who have been put to the trouble of making emphatic denials.

DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

By Phyllis Phillips

same things that I do? Somehow or other I feel that I don't know him as well as I thought I did. Maybe he is one of those men who have what Aunt Cecilia calls "dual natures." I wonder. She always says it, as though the person who possessed such were not fit for public print. But then what does Aunt Cecilia really know about men?

After the theater we went to Fairhills for supper. I have always wanted to go there, and it was glorious to be able to at last. Jack seemed pretty familiar with the place—and even with one or two of the waiters. I never stopped to think that maybe he has had a life that I know nothing about. (Another fact that people like Aunt Cecilia love to ponder over.) But strangest of all was when a rather bold looking brunette, who was much too painted and over dressed, to say the least, waved to him from a table 'way across the room from us! I saw all this in the mirror, of course, but Jack didn't know that I did. He made believe that he did not see her at all, and looked over to one of the waiters and beckoned for him to come and get our order. Maybe that is just part of his "dual personality," that I have not gotten acquainted with, as yet. My goodness, it seems as though I have lots to learn about homes and husbands after all. No wonder Dorry and Jean are so peaceful, they are just jogging along as they planned, and are not forced to "understand" anyone or anything but their art, and themselves. After all, a girl is awfully easy to understand, I think. Jack disagrees with me on this subject.

We had a wonderful supper—and danced—and I felt almost married and very sophisticated, which helped lots to make me forget my earlier bitter reflections. Jack is a grand dancer. He holds one so possessively. I always think of cave men and all the stories I have ever read about such when he dances with me. The bill seemed to me very extravagant, for I couldn't help seeing what change he got from a twenty-dollar bill—and then I remembered that from all accounts Jack was doing pretty well—at least well enough for me to feel very safe about trusting my future to him.

I noticed that that black-eyed girl kept looking at Jack quite a lot; and I wondered why he did not tell me about her. Of course, I am not really worried—no, indeed. Mother has always trained me to feel sure of myself. I do. There have been no jealous women in the Leland family.

I noted with satisfaction that I looked pretty enough to freeze any rival. My features are oval and regular, and my hair naturally wavy; my eyes, green and rather slanting, and I have pretty arms and a good figure. I had on the loveliest pale green dress. That made my eyes greener than ever, and Jack just raved about the way I looked. I should worry about rivals!

I noted that Jack nodded to the proprietor, in a familiar way, as we went out; but again, he never mentioned why or wherefore to me. I am beginning to suspect that he is reticent. Some women just adore reticent men. I wonder if I shall, too?

ONE WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Of Interest to Expectant Mothers

Goshen, Ind.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results after I had suffered for some time with female trouble. Some years ago I had twin boys and took your Vegetable Compound before they came also before my four year old boy was born, and afterwards, and think it fine for such cases. I tell others what it did for me and you may publish my testimonial." —Mrs. Geo. A. Foos, 711 S. 9th St., Goshen, Indiana.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong and this good old fashioned root and herb remedy contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

BEGIN TO PURIFY YOUR WINTER-BLOOD

Grandmother's Old-Fashioned Sulphur and Molasses Did It

But Not So Well As This Sulpherb Tablet—Sugar Coated

Through the winter the blood accumulates poisons because you do not perspire enough, because you do not live in the open air, and because you eat more meat, mush and other rich foods. Every spring we feel sluggish, constipated, liver and kidney ills beset us, colds and chronic coughs, pimples, boils and carbuncles all evidence of impure, thick, sluggish blood.

Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets) are composed of extracts of roots and herbs, combined with sulphur and cream of tartar—and no better physic, blood-tonic and blood cleanser has ever been developed. Every spring thousands who already know their value take them to purify the system of Winter Poisons. Now is the time to begin, so you won't be attacked by serious ailments when Spring and Summer come. Sold by all druggists 60c per sealed tube with full directions.

is a matter of how ls about it. Naturally whose personality is e in any studio, has carriage waits; nor would Miss Talmadge accept a play in which the clever bits of acting go to the unscrupulous but wealthy suitor.

It's not enough to find the right church in the form of a story. Find the right pew, too, with the label, "Charles Ray," "Katherine MacDonald," "Anita Stewart," or "Norma Talmadge." Don't write a story for Charles Ray which deals with the soulless villain; don't send Charley Chaplin the great heart interest story, "Souls of Humanity," or dash off something for Katherine MacDonald which would necessarily call for quantity contracts with a pie factory.

Perhaps you have a splendid idea which centers about the dying spinster and her lost romance. Constance Talmadge will not buy it, unless you carry that story back to the days when the spinster was young and beautiful. There are plenty of stories about black-faced Othellos or aged heroes, but nobody is interested in acting them.

Stories, Like Shoes, Must Fit

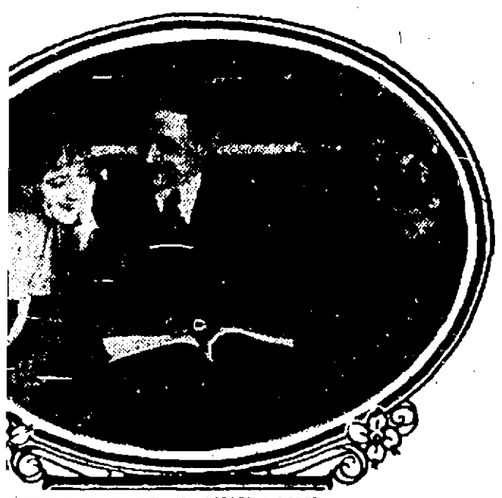

Picture Katherine MacDonald as the proprietress of a dingy bakeshop, quarreling with the bakers and hurling great gooey gobs of dough right and left. Imagine the face of that beautiful actress plastered and splotched from the mighty and accurate heave of the head baker, who has returned the fire. Then conjure up a sidesplitting, slapstick climax. It would hardly be becoming to that charming star, and, we venture to say, she would not enjoy such a part. Certainly it would not tend to create star sympathy.

In your mind's eye visualize how Charles Chaplin would look as the hero of a great, tragic photodrama. Faultlessly attired in evening dress, polished in manner and as graceful as a Greek god, Chaplin, as the passionate lover, gently woos and wins the maid of his heart. Does that sound logical? We believe not and are confident that you will agree with us.

But we do not mean to discourage you from injecting the element of comedy into a tragedy or vice versa. These two elements may be skillfully woven together with the result that your story's value is increased. A comedy may be greatly improved by burlesquing a bit of the dramatic. A drama will have a more powerful appeal if through it runs the thread of humor and satire.

We want you to write great stories. But we want you to sell them also. Therefore we say:

Be sure your audience is stirred to real sympathy, throw that sympathy to the star part, and be sure that this star part which you have created actually suits some star or group of stars of the modern motion picture.

'The Luck of The Irish' Comes to Rialto Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Do you like a hero who does all the things that you would like to do —if you could? That's the kind of a hero that Allan Dwan presents to us in his latest photoplay offering, "The Luck of the Irish," which he has adapted for the screen from the book of the same name by Harold MacGrath. It will be shown at the Rialto Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

William Grogan, a New York plumber, fell in love with a pair of shoes. They passed by the cellar window where he worked, twice a day, and although he had never seen the face above them he knew her to be a young, energetic, and, he hoped, good-looking girl. An unexpected legacy gave Grogan an opportunity to realize his dreams of a trip around the world. On the deck of the Ajax, which was to take him on his long dreamed journey, he recognized the shoes, and Ruth Warren stood for more than he had hoped. She was traveling alone, and Gorgan constituted himself her cavalier. There was a mystery about her that made him eager to devote his strength and wits to her.

Camden, another of the passengers, also showed a keen interest in Ruth. One night on deck Grogan was attacked from behind and robbed of his pocketbook, which was later returned to him intact. This was the first of several assaults upon him. In Cairo he was made a prisoner and barely escaped with his life. The young plumber discovered that Norton Colburton, the millionaire and the owner of the yacht that seemed to be following them, also new Ruth. Cragon believed him to be the instigator of the many mysterious attacks. The skein of mysterious intrigue became more tangled as they traveled on, until in Singapore the girl disappeared. Then in a most unusual manner Grogan discovered that she had been abducted, and was being held in one of the worst dives in the town.

He arrived on the scene at the moment when she was using all her strength in a mad struggle to resist Colburton. Like a demon, Grogan sprang at Colburton and there was a fight to the finish before he rescued the girl; even then his troubles were not over, though in the end the luck of the Irish brought him through.

It was due to Mr. Dwan's persuasion that James Kirkwood set aside his director's megaphone to again don the grease paint. He will be seen in the role of William Grogan, which is the finest characterization that this gifted actor has yet contributed to the screen. Anna O. Nilsson, as Ruth Warren, has a part which permits her to run the entire gamut of emotions, and endows the production with her rare personality. The villainies of Camden and Colburton have been enacted by Harry Northrup, an actor of long standing as a "heavy," and by Ward Crane, who, though considered one of the newcomers to the screen, has won a host of admirers and promises to be one of the most popular men of the silver sheet in the near future.

hemia," has been visualized for the screen and will be presented by William Fox at the Dreamland theatre, beginning Wednesday with the piquant Peggy Hyland as the star. H. B. Daniel's play has been adapted for the film by Denison Clift, and promises, according to report, to surpass in the silent drama its success on the speaking stage.

"A Girl in Bohemia," is a story that deals with the adventures of Winifred Bryce, daughter of a college professor, who goes to the Bohemian quarter of New York in search of material for her novel. Her experiences among the set of artists and near-artists, authors and journalists, form the plot of the feature; and if it is what the producers claim it to be, "A Girl in Bohemia" is well worth seeing

I is a gripping drama of love and vengeance a play that stimulates the conscience and stirs the heart of every man and woman who knows what cruel tyrants love and life may be.

"The Valley of Tomorrow" is an American Film Company super-production, filmed amid the superb scenery of the famous Lake Tahoe region, and enacted by a cast of all-star proportions, headed by the ever-popular William Russell. It has been secured for presentation at the Strand theatre beginning next Thursday. It is a dramatic masterpiece with an appeal to all who appreciate a stronly emotional story.

Miss Tenant, although a hired employee, became quite popular while at the party. Rumor is quite an impressionable man, was taking pains to tell the entire list of guests that Miss Tenant was involved in a thrilling near-domestic row in Reno.

No, dear reader, this is no shocking local event. It is only one of the situations in "The Turning Point," in which Katherine MacDonald, the American beauty, will be seen in her latest First National attraction at the Strand, commencing Sunday.

The story was adapted from the novel by the same title by Robert W. Chambers. Extra attention, according to the manager, has been given the selection of locations for this picture and some of the choicest scenic spots in California serve as backgrounds for the many unusual situations that develop in this story of a beautiful girl who risked the hate of a man she loved in order to force him to give up a worthless life and be a credit to himself.

'FLAMES OF FLESH' AT STRAND TUESDAY

"Flames of the Flesh," a new William Fox photoplay starring Gladys Brockwell, will be shown at the Strand theatre on Tuesday. In this play one receives a vivid impression of a wide variation of human emotions.

Gladys Brockwell, the "girl of a thousand expressions," gives a forceful impersonation of a waif of the world who experiences amazing transformations of character. It is said that in this production the players hold the audience in spellbound silence as they enact a drama teeming with intense situations.

VALLEY OF TOMORROW COMING TO STRAND THEATER THURSDAY

If you knew that the brother of the woman you loved had brought shame and death upon your little sister, and besmirched your own honorable name, could you marry that blackguards sister?

As the brother of the wronged girl, could you trample under foot the ancinet tradition of your house—a custom founded on the old Mosaic law of eye for eye—for the sake of a woman you had known less than a day?

If you knew that the man you had begun to care for had shot your own brother, could you let your heart go out to him in perfect surrender? Or would you be haunted by the fear that this memory would remain as an eternal marrier between you, challenging your happiness and inciting unending internal warfare?

If you knew that the woman in whose hands you had placed the key of your heart had attempted in cold blood to take your life would you still cling to your determination to make her your wife? Could you, in perfect tenderness forget and forgive?

'EVERYWOMAN' SCORING A HIT AT AMERICAN

Every woman loves beautiful gowns and in "Everywoman," the film version of the famous morality play, which is showing at the American theatre a multitude of the fashionable modistes' most modern creations are shown. In the opening scenes of the picture, before it becomes a purely symbolical story of life itself, a bazaar is shown that is declared to be a veritable fashion show. The gowns are exquisite and of varying character. Evening costumes of the finest of materials are features of the gaming room palace of wealth, and other ornate scenes.

Walter Browne's famous story of Everywoman and her search for Love is said to have been given one of the most spectacular settings ever shown on the screen.

The shocked and horrified parents set out to overtake them, but they reach a mountain hotel ahead of their elders and prepare for the spooning they have waited so long for, when they are the victims of a series of interruptions that are as disconcerting to them as they are mirth-provoking.

The screen version of "Please Get Married" is spicy, but clean. The comedy of the stage production is preserved, and at times improved upon with the result that the beholders of the picture are kept in a constant gale of merriment.

THE FEUD' AT THE COLONIAL ON THURSDAY

Tom Mix is coming, not only in what is said to be his biggest production, but in the role which is a distinct departure from pure "stunt stuff." William Fox will present him in "The Feud" on Thursday at the Colonial theatre.

The opening episode is laid in the Bluegrass region back in the days of hoopskirts and romance. Tom mix is seen as Jere Lynch, whose family is actively engaged in an ancient feud with the Summers family. The heritage of hate does not prevent Jere from loving pretty Betty Summers, but it does lead to dramatic complications in which the feud breaks out with renewed intensity.

The role of Jere Lynch calls for considerable ability as an actor, and the work of Tom Mix, it is predicted, will delight his many followers and bring him new admirers.

CIRCUMSTANCES MADE GERMAN REVOLUTION, SAYS SPEAKER

Dr. G. G. Kullman Says Few Wanted to Get Rid of Former Kaiser

Oberli, March 15—It was a pity that no more than a relatively small number of faculty and students had the privilege of hearing the remarkably able discussion of the situation in Central Europe which was given on Sunday afternoon in one of the rooms of the Men's building, by Dr. G. G. Kullmann. He is a boyish looking person of twenty-six with all the breadth of view of a cosmopolitan that might be expected from a citizen of Switzerland, born in Holland, of Alsatian parentage, educated in Germany (in part) and connected with the American Y. M. C. A. His point of view is that of a socialist and a Christian; his culture and grasp of conditons does the very highest credit to European education and to himself. After a really masterly resume of the liberal movement in Germany and other countries during recent years he dealt with conditions since the armistice. The German revolution was made by circumstances. Very few wanted to get rid of the Kaiser.

The democratic republic was really wanted by hardly any one. The difference between the present and the old imperial government is not really very great. The revolution has not the inspiration of high hopes, and in that respect it bears a very different face from the Russian one, whose leaders at least believe in their mission. Most interestingly he gave his reasons for feeling that for the Germans there is practically no middle course between the old empire and boishevism. On this point he was extremely emphatic. As to the wisdom of the allied statesmen he had not very much to say. He entirely agrees with Dr. Keynes as to the lunatic nature of the proposed indemnities. To Americans the most interesting of his carefully phrased sentences was that no revolution may be expected here because the very wealth of capitalism corrects itself at least to some extent by the very high standard of living it has brought about."

UNION LENTEN SERVICES ARE WELL ATTENDED

Oberlin, March 15—At the fourth of the union Lenten services in Finney Chapel, Oberlin, President Geo. R. Groce of De Pauw university preached the sermon from the text, "Sir, we would see Jesus." He said:

"After Jesus' death his life was supposed to be buried with him, his cause to have failed. Later when Christianity became mixed with heathen observances and pagan philosophy it was again thought to have failed. So again when it became institutionalized in the Roman church. When the doctrine of evolution was first advocated, Christian people said that if evolution prevailed it would kill the Christian faith. Historical and literary criticism of the Bible was likewise thought to doom the Christ to failure. But each time men have asked afresh to see Jesus and found him still vital and powerful. The acceptance of evolution as a fact and the last findings of historical critcism has left Jesus' personality and moral teachings real and potent in men's lives. 'Down thru the centuries Jesus has been coming into ever greater prominence Why? Because he meets the needs of mankind.

"He answers the intellectual need. He was not of the type of the college professor. He did not teach any philosophy or science. His whole recorded teachings could be compassed in a magazine article. The things that Jesus said stimulated men's minds. Other great teachers have been forgotten. But not so, Jesus. He helps men to understand the world and their relation to it.

"He also taught an adequate conception of God. He gave men a sense of the presence of God, not simply a theology about God.

"There is a demand for Jesus in the field of personal conduct. Nothing that Jesus declared right has been pronounced by our best thinkers to be wrong. Nothing which Jesus declared to be wrong has been pronounced by our best men to be right. "What would Jesus do?" He did not make rules for men. He did not say, "Don't smoke, don't dance, don't go to the theatre." He lived a life of good will and friendliness and bade men to follow him. Jesus is valuable to help us in present social problems not by giving specific rules, but by his spirit of simple helpfulness.

"Our economic system today is capitalist built on competition and not on co-operation, designed to make profits and not men; and this dominated by the spirt of Jesus Christ. It is Jesus Christ or chaos. It is not chiefly a new program we need but a new power—the power of justice.

There is the demand for Jesus to transform character. A long procession of men from Paul to Augustine, to Bernard of Clarveaux to Sam Hadley of New York testifies that they are what they are by the power of Jesus Christ.

SCANDINAVIANS ARE DISCUSSED BY PROF. I. C. HANNAH SUNDAY

Oberlin, March 15—Futilities addressed to the men of Christ church, Oberlin, by Ian C. Hannah on "Scandanavians in this country and at home:"

"The five Scandanavian countries are Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Iceland and Finland. The inhabitants of the first four are of Teutonic stock; their ancestors were long ago well known as vikings and were more persistent than welcome in wandering over the waterways of Europe. In 1000 A. D. they found their way to America, but never realized the significance of their discovery. Always, everywhere the Norses have been remarkable for the facility with which they have become absorbed among the peoples of the lands in which they have made new homes.

"The Swedes first settled the Delaware estuary in 1638, but their colony was soon conquered by the Dutch of New Amsterdam. The old Swedish (Lutheran) churches have been taken over by the Episcopal communion. At the present time the Scandanavians are perhaps the best of all our immigrants; all the five countries are represented among them. Very many are settled in the state of Minnesota. In Minneapolis there is a church dedicated to their patron saint, Ansgar, where they worship as an Episcopal congregation. They have a chapel dedicated to the same saint in the cathedral at New York, but the great majority of the Scandanavians in this country maintain their own Lutheran organizations.

A WOMAN'S VERDICT

TELLS OF SUFFERING GREATLY WITH KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLE AND HOW BALMWORT BROUGHT RELIEF

HER LETTER WELL WORTH READING

Mrs. Nellie McGinn, 609 East 128th street, New York City, writes: "For the last year I had suffered greatly from Kidney and Bladder trouble distressing pain in the back and hips, with rheumatic twinges and frequent severe headache, accompanied by nervousness, chills and fever, also a frequent desire to eliminate, a smarting, burning sensation, with pain in the region of the bladder. I would frequently have to arise at night, my sleep being distributed by the pressure and inflammation in bladder. Beginning the use of Balmwort Tablets I noticed almost instant relief, and continuing to use them I am now totally well and relieved of all pain and distress from which I suffered. I am glad to recommend Balmwort Tablets as a reliable beneficial medicine and trust others may find relief and freedom from pain and distress as I did," etc."

The above letter is a true statement and is on file in our offices. Balmwort Tablets bring relief when other medicine has failed. Sold by leading druggists, $1.00 per tube.—Adv.

Ohio Needs Tax Reform, Oberlin Professor Says

Sandusky, March 15.—The history of Ohio taxing laws, the mistakes which have been made in the enactment of taxation legislation and recommendations for new measures were all interestingly set for Friday night by Prof. H. L. Lutz, of Oberlin, in an address on "The Problem of Tax Reform in Ohio," at the Sunyendand club.

That the general property tax is obsolete and that the Smith one per cent law should have been only a temporary measure, were assertions made by Prof. Lutz in his comprehensive review of taxation problems. In asserting that the general property tax is obsolete. Prof. Lutz said that at the time it was instituted, it was fair and equitable but that was before intangible properties became a problem. Now, he said, it was defective in theory and in practice; it does not measure ability to pay and property rights have become too perplex.

Our present method, Prof. Lutz declared, resulted in three things: First, it bred tax colonies, certain favored localities for men who wish to get exemptions from taxation; it has resulted in a flood of tax free investments and has resulted in migration. All this he said, had become apparent since the defeat of the classification amendment. Taxation of mortgages, he declared, was unjust since it was was in reality double taxation. Another mistake he said, was the separation of the source of revenue for state and localities. The legislature has for years, he said, been appropriating double its revenues and the state has averted bankruptcy only because funds were available from appropriations which lapsed. He recommended a fixed state levy.

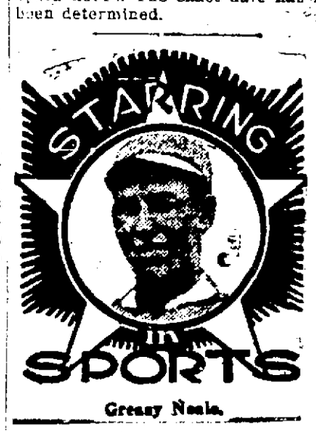

The Smith one per cent law, Prof. Lutz declared, should have only been a temporary measure if adopted at all. The tax limit of one per cent he said has bred debt for the municipalities. It would be preferable, he said, to a debt limit and remove the tax limitation. The future is dark, he declared, and what was needed a new generation of legislators who are more competent. The best program for Ohio he said would be that advocated by the National Taxation Association. This includes three main features: First, personal income tax second, classification of allall tangible properties, and third, tax on business corporations.

AMHERST WILL ENTER ORATORY CONTESTS TO BE HELD HERE SOON

Amherst, March 15.—Amherst high school is planning to send a representative to the Oratorical contest which will be held in Elyria the first part of April. The five first of the County contest will go to Cleveland to compete with several other counties, constituting the Northeastern part of the state.

The local institution is planning to hold a contest here to determine the represeutative to Elyria. About a dozen have entered and are now at work on their oration. Several rules have to be complied with.

The local contest will be held the first week in April probably at the opera house. The exact date has not been determined.

Greasy Neale.

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Greasy Neale, one of the Cincinnati Reds' outfielding trio, has signed up for another campaign with Pat. The chances of the Reds copping again looked so rosy to Neale that he turned down an offer of a $5,000 salary to give up his baseball career and coach the athletic teams at Marietta college.

The coach game isn't new to Neale. During the offseason for several years he has coached football teams and has had experience in prepping teams in other sports. Last fall he coached the Marrietta grid team.

Neale was born in Parkersburg, W. Va., November 6, 1893. He started his pro career with Altoona in the Tri-State league in 1912 and wound up the season with the London Canadian league club. In 1914 he was drafted by the Indians, but was sent back to London. After spending the 1915 season with Dayton, Wheeling and Saturday he was signed by the Reds in 1916. He is a good hitter and fielder. In the world series last fall he batted .357, getting ten hits in twenty-eight times up. He made but one fielding boot.

WHAT we're aiming at, is that it takes both skill and precision to blend tobaccos the Chesterfield way.

Blending, by Chesterfield's method, brings out a new richness of flavor and mellowness of taste that other and less skillful blending methods fail to "discover."

Chesterfields sure do "satisfy"—and not in flavor alone, but in value, in quality, also in their extra wrapping* of moisture-proof, glassine paper that keeps the cigarettes in every package firm and fresh.

Today, ask your dealer for these "satisfy-smokes."

Prominently figuring in the testimony of Joseph Virgo, an embalmer of Kalamazoo, and declared by Mrs. Tabor to have married her daughter as his fifth wife. Although the young woman's body was embalmed and despite many circumstances which have pointed toward Virgo as knowing more than he has disclosed concerning the case, no charge was placed against him when Mrs. Tabor was held for the murder.

The prosecution is counting on an estrangement which has sprung up between the strange old woman and her nearly as strange alleged son-in-law to reveal many things. Chief among the riddles the state attorneys will seek to have answered will be:

Did Maude Tabor Virgo die as the direct result of a criminal operation, and was her body concealed to hide the fact? Or—

Did the young woman meet death at the hands of some one who afterward forced the mother to become a party to concealment of the body in order to hide the fact of the murder?

Mystery Briefs

A brief history of the known facts in the mystery is as follows:

In the early spring of 1916, Maude Tabor, quiet, studious, and a schol teacher from the time she left the University of Michigan as an honor graduate, suddenly disappeared. Friends inquiring about her were told by her mother that she had gone west to teach school, to inspect some mining property and to care for her health. A little later the Tabor family announced that she had died in a western city.

Several months later, Mrs. Tabor and her son, Walter, went to live in a small California city, leaving as the sole occupant of the Tabor homestead here another daughter, Mrs. Florence Tabor Critchlow. One day early in last December, Mrs. Critchlow went to the cellar for some firewood, and in gathering it her hand touched a human foot protruding from a hole in the end of her dead sister's "hope chest."

She immediately called for a Lawton attorney. When the lid of the chest was raised, the body of Maude Tabor was revealed, twisted and distorted because of its having been crowded in so narrow a space, but in a remarkable state of preservation due to its embalming. It was clad in a bridal gown. A medical examination disclosed that the young woman was to have become a mother.

Search was made immediately for Mrs. Tabor and her son. They were found through the enterprise of a Chicago newspaper. Then some one remembered that Virgo had seemed attentive to Maude for a time, and he was brought into the case. He admitted before a coroner's jury that he had been in Maude's company for several months while she was teaching school in Kalamazoo, but denied he had married her or that he was the father of her unborn child.

"Maude left Kalamazoo and went back to Lawton in February, 1916," he said. "From then on I never saw her alive. When I called at her home about two months later her mother told me she had died out west."

He then admitted that he had made no inquiries of Mrs. Tabor as to the circumstances surrounding the death of her daughter, which was considered strange, in view of their former friendship.

When Mrs. Tabor was brought back to Lawton, however, she contradicted Virgo's statements on numerous points, chief of which was that he had been married to Maude at LaGrange, Ind. They lived together only a day, she testified, Maude then returning to Lawton.

Conflicting Stories

In answer ot the State's Attorney's questions, she admitted that her daughter had died in her arms at 2 o'clock in the morning of May 2, 1916. She said that she had kept the body in a room in the house for a week before dressing it in bridal garments and hiding it in the "hope chest," which once had contained many bits of finery treasured by Maude in anticipation of the time she would become a bride.

"The reason I hid the body was because of an agreement Maude and I had," the wrinkled old woman declared. "We promised each other once we would be buried in the same grave. I wanted to keep her body above earth till I died. Besides, I wanted to keep Maude's death a secret because certain persons would have harmed me. And I didn't want Virgo to come and take the body from me."

Mrs. Tabor refused to be drawn out regarding the "certain persons" she mentioned. She also denied that she knew anything of the criminal operation or the overdose of chloroform, which the coroner's jury found caused Maude's death.

Her other daughter, Mrs. Critchlow, also an honor graduate of the State University and a poet and author, has refused to make any statement concerning the case since her finding of the body, even before the coroner's jury. She is regarded as an important witness. In court, of course, she will have to testify or go to jail.

Since her indictment on the murder charge, Mrs. Tabor has been held in jail without bail. Despite her age, she has displayed a mentality so nimble that she has baffled questioners time after time, and the prosecution expects a hard time of it in getting at the heart of the mystery.

A healthy man or woman simply cannot loaf. When you lack energy and vitality you don't feel like working. All the organs of your body are sluggish. You are not keen for either pleasure or work. Southern Mothers Have Found a Way to Treat Children's Croup and Colds Without Internal Dosing

ALL mothers everywhere know that children's stomachs are delicate and their digestions easily disturbed, and therefore they should be given as little internal dosing as possible. Yet croup and colds come often and certainly cannot be neglected.

A North Carolina Druggist Solves the Problem

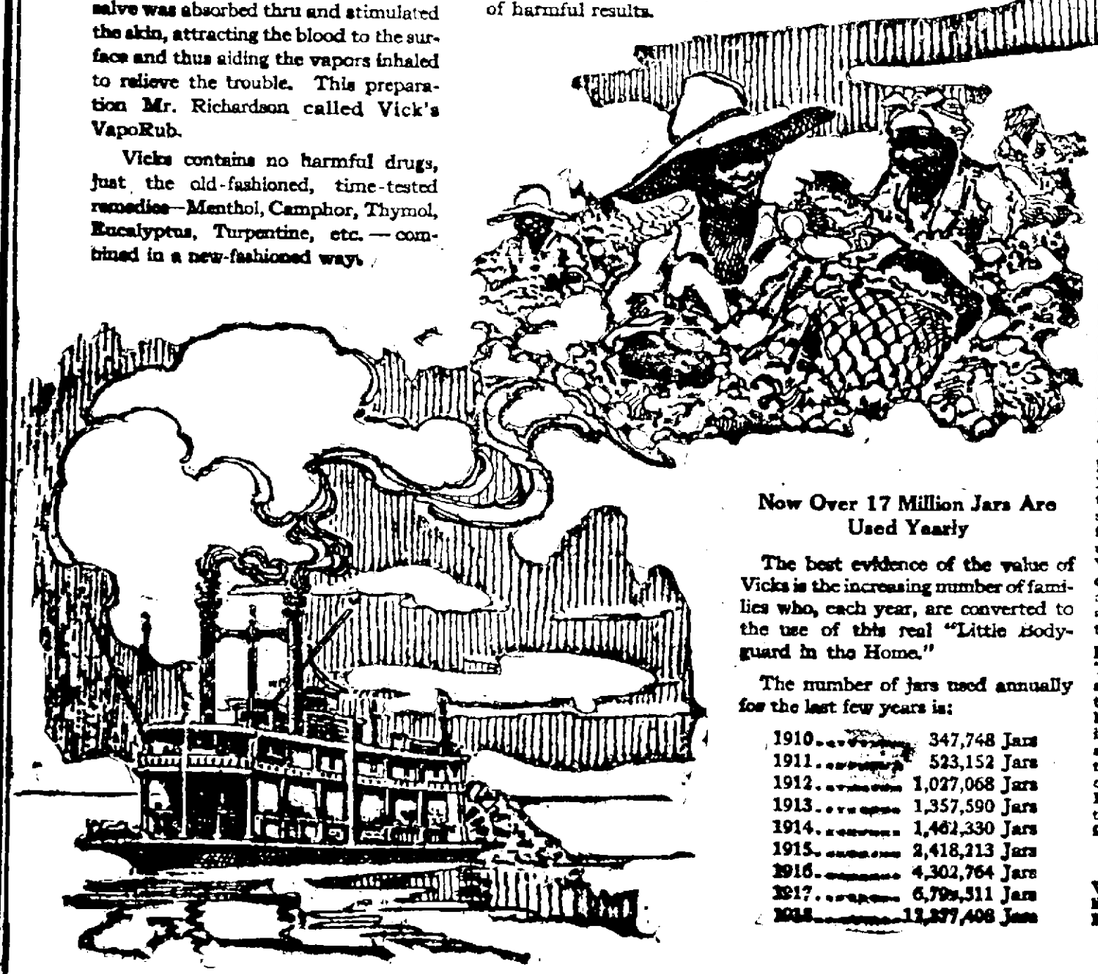

Thanks to Lunsford Richardson, a druggist in Greensboro, N. C., this problem has been solved, and Southern mothers have been given a method of treating cold troubles externally. Mr. Richardson discovered a salve that would vaporize by the body heat when applied over throat and chest. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carried the medication through the air passages to the lungs, at the same time the salve was absorbed thru and stimulated the skin, attracting the blood to the surface and thus aiding the vapors inhaled to relieve the trouble. This preparation Mr. Richardson called Vick's VapoRub.

Vicks contains no harmful drugs, just the old-fashioned, time-tested remedies—Menthol, Camphor, Thymol, Eucalyptus, Turpentine, etc. — combined in a new-fashioned way.

The Use of Vicks Has Steadily Increased

Starting with the customers of Mr. Richardson's retail drug store, the sale of this external treatment has grown, county by county, state by state, until now Vicks can be found in almost any drug store in all sections of the United States.

Mothers who once use Vicks always keep a bottle on hand thereafter. It is so easily applied, so quick in its effects, and, best of all, can be used as often and as freely as desired, without fear of harmful results.

Now Over 17 Million Jars Are Used Yearly

The best evidence of the value of Vicks is the increasing number of families who, each year, are converted to the use of this real "Little Bodyguard in the Home."

The number of jars used annually for the last few years is:

1910	347,748 Jars
1911	523,152 Jars
1912	1,027,068 Jars
1913	1,357,590 Jars
1914	1,461,330 Jars
1915	2,418,213 Jars
1916	4,302,764 Jars
1917	6,798,511 Jars
1918	12,377,408 Jars

DIRECTIONS FOR THE USE OF VICKS

Vapors Important—For these troubles a large part of the value of Vicks lies in its vaporizing qualities. So whenever Vicks is applied over the throat and chest, care should be taken to leave the clothing loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel, so that the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

Hot Wet Cloths—In cases of deep chest colds, severe sore throat or incipient pneumonia, hot, wet towels should be used over the throat and chest to open the pores of the skin before applying Vicks.

For Head Colds, Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever—Vicks can be melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled, or a little should be applied up the nostrils and sniffed up the head.

For Spasmodic Croup, Children's Colds—Rub Vicks over the throat and chest until the difficult breathing is relieved, then spread on thickly and cover with a hot flannel cloth. An application at bed time usually prevents a night attack of croup. Vicks is particularly recommended for children's colds since it is externally applied, and can, therefore, be used often and freely without disturbing the youngsters' delicate digestions.

For Deep Chest Colds, Sore Throat, Tonsilitis, Bronchitis, Coughs—or any affection of the respiratory organs where there is tightness or soreness, Vicks should be applied over the throat and chest—if necessary, first using hot wet cloths—and rubbed in well until the skin is red; then spread on thickly and covered with one or two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. If the cough is annoying, a small piece the size of a pea can be swallowed every few hours.

Minor Ailments

In addition to its use for Cold Troubles, Vicks has been found excellent as a salve, liniment or plaster for troubles such as Piles, Burns, Insidings, Sunburn, Sunburn.

The Kentucky Coffee Tree is also a good lawn subject, except for the fact that it does not get its foliage until very late in the spring. Some of the Catalapas are particularly good lawn trees, although not growing very tall, and the long lived Maidenhair tree is unrivaled for sheer beauty when it can be given sufficient room.

There are few hobbies which become more fascinating than that of growing beautiful plants around one's home, and unlike most hobbies it is an excellent investment. Nothing is ever lost by planting trees and shrubs, and oftentimes much is gained financially as well as in downright satisfaction.

...vice before buying trees because the results are to be spread over many years.

There is a distinct difference between the home maker who is planning for his own enjoyment and yet wants to increase the value of his property and the speculator who simply aims to find a customer at the earliest opportunity. The latter will invariably choose trees and shrubs which grow rapidly and make an immediate showing without regard to their appearance in a few years. The former, on the other hand, will select the choicer trees and plants—those which are good for a lifetime and gain in beauty the older they grow. One of the simplest ways to make a house look like a real home is to use shrubbery along the foundation. It is surprising to see how quickly a tall, gaunt, bare looking dwelling can be transformed by this simple expedient.

Perhaps your home is situated where it is exposed to strong winds in winter. In that case why not set out a windbreak? That, too, will add to the selling value of your property, and morer than that, it will help materially to cut down your coal bills. If you have a well grown windbreak to the north and the east it will do much to make your house warmer and more comfortable throughout the cold weather. This is an especially important matter for the consideration of farmers because with a proper windbreak on the cold side of the property the cattle will suffer less from the cold and can be given the freedom of the barnyard on days when it would be impossible to let them out if the wind had an uninterrupted sweep. Among the good trees for windbreaks are the White Pines and the Hemlocks. They live for many years and are very hardy even if they do not grow quite so fast as some other kinds. In many cases it pays to set out a double row, using the two kinds just mentioned, with a row of faster growing Norway Spruce or Scotch Pine in front. There certain deciduous trees, too, like the Soft Maple and Populars, which have value when quick results are wanted. In any event, a wind break will be greatly appreciated in the spring.

In surburban towns planting along the outside as well as the inside of the fences must be considered, for in many instances a row of trees along the roadside adds fifty per cent to the general appearance of the abutting property. Among the trees commonly recommended for street planting are the English Ash, the Oriental Planetree, the American Elm, and the Sugar Maple. An occasional tree of a purely ornamental character, like the Cut-leaf Weeping Beech, and Teas Weeping Mulberry, may be employed, but their effect is destroyed if they are used too free-

A MODERN SIX ROOM BUNGALOW

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT

IN this Bungalow design we have a very well arranged and convenient plan, with large living room, dining room, kitchen and two bed rooms. An attractive feature is the sun room on the left. This has wide glazed French doors and windows opening it up with the living room. The casement windows used in the sun room and windows in living room and dining room are grouped, making very light and cheerful rooms. The bed rooms are each provided with closets and there is a coat closet in addition. Between dining room and kitchen is a pantry. There is a well appointed bath room and a rear porch glazed in and with space for refrigerator.

There is an open brick terrace in front and the outside face of wall is of "Texture" brick up to the window sills and the corners carried up with brick, the balance of the wall is finished with cement stucco. The roof is shingled and stained. The finish of the two main rooms and sun parlor is of oak with oak floor. The bed rooms, kitchen and both room are to be finished in white enamel, with floors of birch.

The outside gables are panelled with half timbers and finished with stucco. The estimated cost is from $5,500 to $6,700, exclusive of heating and plumbing. The outside trimmings are of a light cream color and the roof stained green. The steps and buttresses and front terrace are to be of brick. The corner piers and buttresses are intended to be built of native cobble stone or bowlders, giving a very artistic appearance. There is a full basement complete, with laundry, heating room, etc. There is a good floor in attic and space for storage.

OUIJA'S "ADIVCE" IN GOLD HUNT ENDS IN HIS DEATH

Effingham, Ill., March 15—"Ouija is there gold hidden about here?" asked Albert Anton, follower of the mystic little psychic board, as he played his fingers in the flat-iron shaped propeller in a dreamy attitude of occultism.

"Yes," the board spelled.

"Where?" asked Anton.

"Eighteen feet from where you are now digging," the board answered promptly.

Anton, possessed with reports that Indians had years ago buried a treasure near here, had some time ago started a search for the gold. Already a large hole had been made.

On the day that Anton sought the confidence of the ouija board it rained hard. The rain threatened to undermine the cave and friends cautioned him against it. But when the lure of the gold was made more real by the uncanny replies of the ouija board, Anton forgot the warning. Without thinking he went immediately to the cave and began to dig frantically. In the midst of it the cave-in came, burying Anton underneath. He was suffocated before rescuers could reach him.

Anton left a wife and six children.

ELYRIANS WILL HEAR ADDRESS BY MISS TAFT

Special Tonight at Overland Speaks Tonight at Overland in Interest of Bryn Mawr

Bryn Mawr alumnae have discovered that their stewards, chefs and chauffeurs are commanding more pay than the faculty of their alma mater receive and have started a $2,000,000 endowment campaign to put Bryn Mawr professors and associates upon a regular paying basis

Miss Helen Taft, daughter of William Howard Taft and acting president of Bryn Mawr college in the absence of President M. Carey Thomas, now abroad, and Mrs. Charles Tiffany, will give an illustrated lecture at Hotel Statler, Cleveland, tonight at 8:15 p. m. as an official opening for the work in Ohio.

Miss Taft, apart from the interest which attaches itself to her noted father, has won a place for herself in the hall of fame by virtue of the fact that although she is not yet 30 years of age, she holds such an important position in educational circles.

Mrs. Tiffany, a member of one of New York's most fashionable families, is nationally known for her activity in suffrage work.

The lecture will be free to the public. It will deal with college life and activities, stressing the fact that every cent of the endowment money will be devoted to the salaries paid the faculty members.

The Bryn Mawr club of Cleveland is backing the enterprise in northern Ohio. Alumnae from Ashtabula, Akron, Toledo, Elyria and other nearby cities are actively interested. They extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend the lecture.

Whittier Club Is in Realistic Production

Chicago, March 15—The next time that the Whittier club here essays to give a realistic production of the poet's famous pastoral, "Snowbound," it is going to do so in a nice warm theatre, with "props" atop stage furnishing the snow and other realism.

Twenty-five members of the club started for a picturesque spot several miles from Chicago to enact the pastoral. ut half way there a regular Illinois blizzard hit their train and forced it to halt. The club members spent the rest of the day and the entire night buddling around the lone stove in the train. Two venturesome ones who started out to dig their way for relief were promptly lost, and floundered about in the snowdrifts until dawn, when a rescue snowplow arrived and hauled everyone back to town.

Poet Whittier's reference to "melting in Christian charity" was not referred to by the adventurers on returning to food and warmth All they said was: "Never again!"

DRESS FOLLY SCORED BY CARDINAL LOGUE

London, March 15—"The scandal of extravagance and want of modesty in female dress" received the compliments of Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland.

He isn't interested in the least in the Paris physician who gave women needless advice about wearing fewer clothes and thereby avoiding pneumonia.

Of the scandalous extravagance, etc., Cardinal Logue says:

"It merits the condemnation of all who appreciate the honor, dignity and reputation of women, and it is an index of the degeneracy and corruption of the age.

'Unfortunately, this evil growth has been transplanted to this country, where it should have met the most uncongenial soil, becoming a scandal to her sons and a disgrace to her daughters.

"The grave dignity, reserve, modesty and spotless purity of the daughters of St. Patrick and Bridget which are spoken of in every land, constitutes one of the brightest gems in the growth of Catholic Ireland.

"What a pity that this glorious reputation should be sacrificed to vanity, frivolity an dthe slavery of modern fashions."

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

SAYS WE MUST KEEP FEET DRY, AVOID EXPOSURE AND EAT LESS MEAT

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

SENATOR FEARS HYPHENISM BACK IN U. S. POLITICS

King, of Utah, Reveals Agency Which Urges Separatist Policy in 1920 Campaign

Washington, March 15—A recrudescence of hyphenated German-Americanism in national politics is feared by Senator William H. King, Democrat, of Utah, who yesterday declared his intention of revealing some of its ramifications in an early speech in the senate.

"Organizations already have been formed in Chicago, Milwaukee and Cincinnati, which threaten a revival of the old separatist spirit," said King.

From a central organization in New York, he added, appeals have been sent out to Americans of German sympathies to enlist in a campaign to send food to Germany. Having completed contact through relief appeals, the organization has turned to polotical propaganda, he asserts.

Some of the propaganda contains the following excerpts, he says:

"German-Americans organize for political action"

"Where is the German-American leader?"

"We affirm the right and the duty of Americans of German descent, and Americans of Irish descent, and all Americans, irrespective of descent, to take part in their own government, instead of entrusting the reins to an insolent clique composed of one domineering racial group taking its cue from London."

He Out-Sherlocked Sherlock and Got Man

Hammond, Ind., March 15—Sherlock Holmes has been out-Sherlocked.

Some time ago down in Winber, Pa., "Watson"—that's what the police here dubbed him—woke up one chilly morning to discover that his roommate, ert Pollak, was gone Likewise had "Watson's" $600 and practically all of Pollack's belongings disappeared. Incidentally, the cash till of a restaurant on the floor below had been tapped.

"Watson" appealed to the local police and after weeks of weary waiting he was informed that there was nothing doing. "Watson" was blue. But suddenly he bethought himself of the photograph of Pollak's wife—the woman in Hungary who was awaiting her husband's call to America—which the roommate had overlooked in his flight.

He had prints made of the photo and sent them to all the foreign language newspapers he knew of, with a little information attached to the effect that Mrs. Pollak, arriving unexpectedly in America, had been unable to find her husband at his old address, and would he kindly communicate with her? One of the papers chanced to fall into Pollak's hands and he 'bit." "Watson" was on the receivng end to get Pollak's address enclosed with the letter to the "wife."

Hammond society note—Mr. Bert Pollak has departed for Winber, Pa., on business. He wa saccompanied by S. W. McMullen, chief of police of that place.

Claimant of World's Greatest Eater Title Puts Away 68 Eggs, Five Quarts of Milk and Bread at One Meal

Boston, March 15—Eugene Shelton claims the championship of the world as an eater.

He says he can put away sixty-eight eggs and five quarts of milk in one sitting, with a few slices of bread in the bargain. On one occasion he managed to consume four quarts of oysters.

His penchant in the eating line is meat and plenty of potatoes. For breakfast, it is his usual custom to eat four pork chops, six potatoes, three pieces of toast, four cups of coffee, one-half pie and two bananas. He varies his menu some, but the quantity is always about the same.

For lunch he has two and one-half pounds of meat, one and one-half pounds of potatoes, four rolls, three cups of coffee, one pie and two bananas. His evening meal comprises four pork chops, two pounds of potatoes, five slices of toast, three cups of tea and one pie.

During the day he smokes four or five packages of cigarettes, sometimes sitting up during the night to have a smoke. Incidentally, he sleeps only about four hours in twenty-four.

Though fully two-thirds of his pay envelope goes for food, he says: "I should worry about the high cost of living. A man has got to eat."

Shelton is five feet eight inches in height and weighs 135 pounds. He says he never feels any ill effects from eating.

The man was born at Pleasant Point, Me., forty years ago. His mother was an Indian, his father a white man. Shelton went to sea at the age of sixteen. He spent several years in Spain.

Shelton has been married four times, to his present wife ten years. He works in a laundry.

Claims Farmers More Apt to Get Pneumonia

Atchison, Kan., March 15.—According gto records in the office of the health officer here, a much larger proportion of farmers contract pneumonia than town people.

This is believed to be due to the fact that farmers do not stay indoors long enough after an attack of influenza. City folks, on the other hand, are more careful and are usually fully recovered before they venture out.

ADMIT OBERLIN TO LITTLE BIG SIX LEAGUE; LORAIN CONSIDERS WITHDRAWAL

The Little Big Six High School league now numbers seven with the admission of Oberlin high school by an unanimous vote of the representatives of the schools in the league held at Norwalk Saturday afternoon. Lorain, however, may withdraw, and leave the league with but six members again.

T. C. Bunn, representing Lorain High at the conference, presented the withdrawal of that school, but was urged by those present to reconsider the matter. He will present the matter anew to the authorities at Lorain High, and will report to President Cole of the Little Big Six league at Norwalk this week either a definite refusal to continue in the league or a decision to remain a member.

The one reason given by Lorain for wishing to withdraw from the league is the great distance, between Lorain and Fremont Expenses of transportation between these two schools are too great, thinks Lorain. It is claimed on the other hand that Lorain now makes more money out of athletics than any other school in the league, and can afford to stage games with Fremont High just as easily at Fremont.

Fremont has no intention of withdrawing from the league. While there was some talk of this sort in previous years, the splendid teams that Fremont has been putting in the field have encouraged athletics greatly in the school and there is no longer any desire to withdraw from the Little Big Six.

Every school of the Little Big Six was represened at the conference Saturday afternoon.

Latest Dance Music for Your Victrola

The Yerkes Jazzarimba Orchestra uses the Marimba to "make jazz" with. There are also a "baby-vamp" saxophone and cute little bells that tickle your ears and feet like feathers. Try these dances on your friends.
"Behind Your Silken Veil"—Medley Fox Trot
"Roses at Twilight"—Medley Waltz
Victor Double-faced Record, 18636

The proper place to "try" the following record by the All-Star Trio would be in a court of Domestic Relations. Ten bars and the "tragedies" of the average couple would dissolve in laughter.
"You'd Be Surprised"—Medley One-Step
"Keep Movin'"—Fox Trot
Victor Double-faced Record, 18643

Some other corking dance numbers are:
"Apple Blossoms"—Medley One-Step
"Carolina Sunshine"—Waltz
Played by Joseph C. Smith's Orchestra
Victor Double-faced Record, 18646
"Mystery"—Medley Fox Trot
"Oh!"—Medley Fox Trot
Played by Paul Biese and His Novelty Orchestra
Victor Double-faced Record, 18647

Alfred Cortot plays Spanish dance
"Malagueña" is one of a series of remarkable dances now being recorded of the piano by M. Cortot. One may almost see as well as hear the pulse and throb of the mandolins and the graceful sway of living forms.

How Can I Save Money?

Wise Buying means economy.
The way to buy wisely is to read the advertisements

- —because advertised products are good products.
- —because merchants tell you of their bargains thru advertisements.
- —because almost every new opportunity is offered thru an advertisement.
- —because practically every unusual buy is advertised.
- —because you save time and trouble by choosing what you want and where to get it from the advertisements instead of hunting all over town.

How can I save money? By reading the advertisements.

Not today only.

But every day.

You'll save money by keeping up with every opportunity to get full value in buying—by reading the advertisements regularly!
